The white male pictured below attempted to rob the business. He entered the store and went directly to the restroom. After about 20 minutes, the male came out and walked to the front of the store with his hand over his mouth and his hood now pulled up. The male sat down on a couch and appeared nervous. A few minutes later the male approached the front counter and asked the employee if she could make change for a $20. The employee opened the register and the male told her not to say anything, stay calm, and if she didn't give him the money he would shoot her. The employee saw the hammer portion of a gun in the man's left hand partially in the pocket of his hooded sweatshirt.

The employee's father entered the business to drop off an item as this was happening. The employee told her father that the man had a gun and was going to shoot her. The male ran toward the rear of the store.

The male was described as around 6' and 160 lbs wearing a dark hooded sweatshirt with dark jeans. He appears to be around early to mid 20's with a thin beard.
